CLASS PROPHECY

The time is 8:45 — the day Friday — the date is April, 1982. In the office of the Windsor High School a phone is ringing. It is answered by Lorraine Sikut, secretary to the school principal, Mr. Dexter Dickinson. Miss Sikut, having made the necessary connections, continues with her work. In his office, Mr. Dickinson accepts the call. He is pleasantly surprised as he recognizes the voice of his former classmate, John Winiarski, who has been serving in the Navy since his graduation. Mr. Dickinson is startled when John excitedly tells him that a most unusual thing has happened Mr. Crockett's signature has disappeared from his diploma, and the same thing has happened to two other graduates! Mr. Dickinson realizes that each of the alumni must be notified of this strange incident. But who in the world could contact each and every graduate now scattered from one corner of the earth to the other? Then the idea comes to him — why of course the F.B.I.!

Later that day the men of the F.B.I. are hard at work. They examine records, look through files as well as phone books, diligently trying to discover some clues to the whereabouts of each alumnus. Congratulations to the CLASS OF '57

It's human nature to go to great lengths to find exactly what we already have in our own back yard.

The case in point is HMS: a fast-growing, progressive company that's been among the leaders for many years in development, manufacture, and sale of screw machine products, aircraft components, textile spindles, and diesel injection pumps.

Think of the nearness to home and your friends.
Then think about the chance to get going with a company that is small enough for individual contact with top men in the field . . . and big enough to have the most modern facilities . . . and that offers positions in such areas as:

Clerks — Expeditors — Tool Makers — Machine
Operators — Trainees — Secretaries — Inspectors — Draftsmen — Typists — Engineers — Designers
— Accountants
